Liz Curtis is a professional dancer who also choreographs for film, TV, and music videos as well as national and international tours. She is a guest artist at Glendale Community College, teaching Latin Ballroom Dance.

Cheryl Walker's art work is driven by her interest in the collaboration between viewer and artist. Her works are often transformed into performance pieces by dance, music, and viewer interaction.

Martha Carrascosa is a dancer who trained with the Royal Academy of Dance in Guatemala as well as in Mexico and El Salvador. She is currently an international student at Glendale Community College and an intern in the Dance Department.
